Miss Tregoff's Testimony Is Issue

State Nears Completion Of Case In Finch Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Without this testimony, the state's case would collapse like a house of cards."

A judge and a deputy district attorney once agreed to this—referring to Carole Tregoff's testimony at a preliminary hearing and the state's case against her. A new fight over this testimony is shaping up as the state nears completion of its case against the shapely Miss Tregoff, 23, and her lover, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 42. They are accused of murder in the July 18 shooting of the doctor's wife, Barbara.

Carole was not arrested until she testified at the doctor's preliminary hearing 11 days after the shooting. The prosecutor said some of her statements conflicted with those she gave authorities earlier.

The prosecution now hopes to enter her testimony into evidence, but her attorneys argue that using her own statements against her would violate her constitutional rights.

Superior Court Judge Walter R. Evans is expected to rule on admissibility of the testimony next week. The trial is in recess until then because of the illness of a witness.

If Carole's testimony is not admitted, will the state's case against her collapse?

No, says Clifford Crail, chief trial deputy for the district attorney's office. He and Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred N. Whicello are directing the state's case.

"That statement about the case collapsing was made by Municipal Judge William Martin (at Carole's preliminary hearing) and Mr. Whicello agreed to it," said Crail.

"But that was before we developed all the information from Las Vegas. It's quite a different case, now."

After her preliminary hearing, state investigators found a Minneapolis, Minn., convict, Jack Cody, who said Miss Tregoff hired him in Las Vegas, Nev., to kill the doctor's wife.

Cody testified last week that he took cash from Miss Tregoff and tried to kill Mrs. Finch but never intended to do it.

Election Is Held By Health Council

A secretary-treasurer and five new committee members were elected at the annual meeting of the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council Tuesday evening at the First Methodist Church in Lisbon.

Mrs. Sybil Degnan of Leetonia, school nurse, was elected secretary-treasurer, and Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, Mrs. Earl Gruber and Roy Painter, both of Hanoverton, and Miss Lillian Schroeder, and Harold Graham of Salem were named to the executive committee.

Mrs. Warren Courtney of Winona spoke to the group on women's work in Civil Defense, and the Rev. Tom Hammerton showed a Red Cross film on first aid for burns in a disaster.

The Council decided to continue the speaker's bureau for organizations interested in health programs. Arrangements for speakers can be made through Floyd Lower, county extension agent, at 113 S. Market St., Lisbon.

Mrs. Ralph Phillips, president presided. There were 25 members present.

Adamson Co. Strike Over

Workers Return to Jobs In E. Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Ninety-two employees of the Adamson Co. returned to work this morning after a week-long strike following an agreement reached by the firm and Local 1499, United Steel Workers, Tuesday.

The force consists of 72 shop employees and 20 office workers. The new contract was approved yesterday afternoon by the union's district headquarters at Aliquippa, Pa., and was ratified last night by about 90 per cent of the employees at a meeting in the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall.

Main features of the contract, which was extended for one year, were provisions for company paid hospitalization and pension plans. Figures showing the cost to the company were not released.

The agreement also permits talks to be renewed in December regarding wage increases for the employees. Originally the union had asked for a package of 25½ cents — a wage increase of 7½ cents and 18 cents in fringe benefits.

The Adamson Co., located on E. Clark St., manufactures steel storage tanks. It is one of the oldest industries in East Palestine.

Bender Claims Necessary Signatures

WASHINGTON (AP) — George H. Bender said today he has enough signatures—1,000—to make him a candidate for Ohio delegate-at-large to the GOP national convention.

"But I won't file them until the last minute," the former Ohio Republican senator said in a telephone call from Cleveland.

The deadline for filing petitions for the May 3 primary is Feb. 3. Bender is planning to run as an independent Republican against the Ohio organization slate pledged to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Asked if his candidate is Nixon, too, Bender replied: "It might be—perhaps. It might not be—perhaps. Nixon wants me."

"I got a letter from some guy the other day who called him 'tricky Dick.' I don't share that view."

For serving as "anti-rackets" consultant to Teamsters president James R. Hoffa, Bender has encountered considerable criticism from Ohio Republicans.

Bender, however, referred to his opponents as some "Republican hacks in Ohio."

Some Republicans, he said, have tried to talk him out of the race. "But I'm running," he said.

When he campaigns around the state, he said, he will carefully avoid the regular organization people.

"I'm not going to embarrass any precinct comedians (sic)," said Bender.

Further Break Feared

French-Algerian Deadlock Persists

PARIS (AP)—The threat of a further break between inflamed Algeria and President Charles de Gaulle's Paris government grew hourly today.

As the deadlock went into its fourth day, rumors spread that the President might evoke constitutional provisions that would give him dictatorial powers if he feels France's integrity is menaced.

Reports also persisted that Premier Michel Debre would resign as a result of the crisis in which 26 persons died and about 150 were injured in a battle last Sunday pitting Frenchman against Frenchman. Debre's aides denied the report.

No Sign Of Solution

There was no sign of a solution to the situation which posed the gravest threat to De Gaulle since the Algerian uprising of May 1958 doomed the Fourth French Republic and vaulted him to power.

The barricaded insurgents — fearful that De Gaulle's moderate self-determination policy would lead to eventual independence for Algiers — demand that the largely Moslem land remain French.

From his palace, De Gaulle reaffirmed his policy and called on the insurgents to lay down their arms.

As the deadlock persisted, unrest in other Algerian cities was growing. Demonstrations were held Tuesday in Bone, Constantine, Oran and other cities in sympathy with the Algiers insurgents.

There seemed to be no question of the government being able to crush the insurgents any time it chose. The government troops were vastly more powerful than the few hundred diehards huddled behind barricades and barbed wire in the heart of Algiers.

Loyal To De Gaulle

So far the army apparently has remained loyal to De Gaulle, but its morale has been shaken by the prospect of having to fire upon Frenchmen.

There were unconfirmed reports troop commanders in Algiers had promised not to fire on the insurgents.

This would mean the diehards either would have to be persuaded to lay down their arms or be starved out.

So far they have had little trouble getting supplies through the cordon of paratroopers. And they have showed no sign of giving in.

The longer they remain subdued, the greater the threat that others would join in the protest against the Paris government.

De Gaulle was said to be unwilling to take on dictatorial powers for fear of magnifying the crisis. It was De Gaulle's insistence on the right of the Algerian people—including a million European settlers and nine million North Africans—to choose their own future that led to Sunday's bloody uprising.

U.S. Fires Two Atlas Rockets

Other Launchings Also Successful

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—The United States has demonstrated the power and accuracy of its biggest military rocket, the Atlas, with a pair of successful launchings from opposite ends of the country.

The launchings featured a heavy American missile schedule which also included the successful firings of a Redstone ballistic missile at White Sands, N.M., and a Javelin test rocket from Wallops Island, Va.

An Atlas launched at Cape Canaveral Tuesday night carried an experimental nose cone to a target off the South Atlantic island of Ascension, 5,000 miles away. A few hours earlier, Strategic Air Command troops fired another Atlas into the Pacific from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The Air Force announced both shots were completely successful. They were the 16th and 17th straight successes for the big missile in a remarkable string extending back to last July.

The nose cone carried by the Cape Canaveral Atlas was designed for heavier payloads, faster re-entry and greater accuracy than the blunt cone now used on operational Atlases.

The Redstone was launched by U. S. troops who man the 250-mile-range weapon in Europe. The shot was the first in a series involving an improved Redstone.

The Javelin sped more than 600 miles into the sky in another test of a new rocket engine which will be used in space missions. The engine, called the X248, consisted of the fourth stage of the Javelin. It will also serve as an upper stage of the Scout and Thor-Delta vehicles which are expected to have their first satellite and deep space assignments this spring.

Dr. Cattell to Head Canton Malone College

Dr. Everett L. Cattell of Damascus, who has been general superintendent of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, has been elected president of Malone College in Canton, effective June 1.

He will succeed Dr. Byron L. Osborne, whose retirement and elevation to the rank of president emeritus was announced today by the college board of trustees.

Dr. Osborne, who has given 40 years of service to the school as teacher, officer and administrator, asked for release from active duty at the end of the current academic year.

Dr. Cattell is recognized as one of the outstanding leaders in the Friends Church. Three years ago he was recalled from India by Ohio Yearly Meeting of the Friends' church to become general superintendent.

Dr. Cattell is a graduate of Marion College in Marion, Indiana, and he received his Master's Degree in Philosophy from Ohio State University. Prior to his going to India as a missionary he was a pastor for nine years and was also a professor at Malone when it was located in Cleveland.

Dr. Cattell served as Superintendent of the American Friends India Mission for 20 years. He was

INSIDE THE CAPSULE — His seat for some 72 hours will be this tiny space inside a B-58 Hustler bomber survival capsule, as Airman I.C. Bruce Barwise tests the device in frigid Lake Erie at Buffalo, N.Y. At left is Air Force Capt. Billy Mills.

Drifting In Lake Erie

Airman Fights Fatigue In 3-Day Capsule Test

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An airman, fighting physical and mental fatigue, sat cramped in a metal capsule bobbing in Lake Erie's icy waters today.

The assignment for Airman I.C. Bruce C. Barwise, 34, of Bovey, Minn., is part of the Air Force's 72-hour endurance test of man and a new ejection capsule designed for supersonic B58 Hustler.

Barwise was strapped in the yellow pad and floated in the water near the Buffalo harbor at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Barwise's only contact with the outside is by radio to the U.S. Coast Guard tender Maple to which the capsule is tethered. The weather in the lake was enough to chill the heartiest of ice fishermen. Temperatures ranged from 15 to 20 above zero Tuesday night and the water temperature was 32 degrees. Winds up to 35 miles an hour raked the hull of the unheated pod.

Barwise is dressed in standard flying coveralls under a thermal suit. He wears plastic booties over his GI shoes.

His dinner consists of concentrated foods. An 8-inch window provides an icy scene. Under actual conditions, the capsule containing the crewman is ejected from the aircraft by rockets.

An Air Force spokesman said the tests were designed to see "how a man reacts to such problems as cold, seasickness, dampness and psychological factors of being alone in the confined space of a drifting capsule."

2 Army Rangers Drown In Gulf

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—Heavy surf and a broken cable dumped 30 Army Rangers into the Gulf of Mexico. Two officers drowned and a third is missing.

The missing Ranger was presumed to have drowned.

The series of mishaps occurred Tuesday night about 600 yards from the white beaches of nearby Santa Rosa Island about 11:30 p.m.

The Rangers had arrived at this northwest Florida base from Ft. Benning, Ga., Saturday for special survival training.

Two landing craft brought 140 men taking part in the exercise to within about 600 yards of shore. At that point they transferred into 16-foot rubber rafts to make a simulated beach assault.

Murderer Binds, Shoots Victims In Temples

Escapes In Taxicab Found Abandoned Later Near Newark

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) — Police today found abandoned the red-and-black taxicab used for flight by the murderer of four bound victims on a doctor's country estate.

The cab was located just before 5 a.m. a few blocks from the Newark city limits. The prosecutor's office here said they believed the taxi had just been abandoned a short time before.

Discovered By Officers

Police from nearby Elizabeth reported the taxi was discovered by officers on routine patrol. It had not been there on their last check of the residential neighborhood one hour earlier, the officers said.

Elizabeth police said they were waiting for state detectives before proceeding with an examination of the vehicle, which was reportedly driven from the murder scene Tuesday by a bespectacled man of about 35.

Bound and shot fatally through the left temple were the doctor's invalid wife, two women servants and the cab driver who had brought the murderer to the estate.

The three women were Edith Clarke, in her 60s, wife of Dr. Francis Clarke; a maid, Cora Thaddies, 29; and Dorothy Moore, Mrs. Clarke's elderly housekeeper and companion.

Their bodies were found side by side on a narrow bed in Mrs. Clarke's room. They had been tied hand and foot with belts, ties and strips of cloth.

The cab driver, Morris Michael, 38, of Newark, was in another bedroom on the second floor, his body covered by a sheet.

They were found by Mrs. Clarke's daughter, Cornelia Chapman, 26, who had left the home earlier on a shopping trip with her daughter, Nancy, 3½.

The only clues were the myster.

Lake Milton Man Killed At Crossing

The collision of a car and passenger train in Trumbull County this morning resulted in the death of a 22-year-old man.

Victim of the crash was identified by State Highway Patrolmen as Warren E. Rose Jr., of Lake Milton.

Rose was killed at 7:25 a.m. when thrown from his car after the car was hit by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train, presumably bound for Pittsburgh. The accident occurred on Old Salt Springs Rd., seven tenths of a mile southeast of South Main Ave. Ext., Warren.

Rose, who was riding alone in the 1957 model car, was found 130 feet from the point of impact. His demolished car ended up 184 feet from the crossing.

Patrolmen said Rose was traveling southeast when the 10-car passenger train, pulled by two diesel engines, smashed into the right rear end of his car, sending it rolling in an easterly direction. Rose was thrown from the car before it stopped tumbling.

The crossing had no blinkers and no gates, but was marked by warning sign indicating a crossing, state Patrolmen said.

Attack Barricades Or Not?

Desperate Algerian Rebels Pose Problem for De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—A handful of desperate men manning barricades in Algiers pose a crucial question for Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Should the harried President order his troops to attack the barricades, he risks sparking a much bigger explosion among Algeria's million European settlers, already enraged over his policy of self-determination.

The government's vastly superior military forces seemingly could crush the insurgents in a couple of hours, but De Gaulle might lose heavily if more blood were spilled.

The morale of the army already has been dented by the conflict which has pitted it against Frenchmen. Sunday's clash between settlers and gendarmes which left 26 dead and about 150 wounded has caused general revulsion and any more killing would do lasting damage to De Gaulle's prestige and influence in the all-important army.

2 Plead Innocent In Income Tax Case
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Pleas of innocent on charges they attempted to evade paying $241,000 in corporate income taxes have been entered by two executives of four Cambridge corporations.

The pleas were entered Tuesday before Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood. No trial date has been set.

Herman and Theodore Rogovin were indicted by a Southern District U.S. grand jury charging evasion on net profits of their firms from 1953 through 1956. Herman, of Zanesville, is president and Theodore, of Cambridge, is secretary of the corporations.

Firms involved are Ohio Bridge Corp., Bridge Construction Co., Inc., Culvert and Fabricating Co., Inc., and Superior Steel Corp.

The men are jointly charged on 15 counts of income tax evasion and with four additional individual counts.

Returns filed by the pair were termed "false and fraudulent" by the Internal Revenue Service. Only $988,533 of $1,109,947 tax due was listed as tax indebtedness, the indictments said.

Lake Erie Group Urges Quick Action On Port Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives from Lake Erie cities tonight urged speedy senate action on a House-passed bill that would authorize deepening of channels in Great Lakes ports.

They want the port channels to have the same 27-foot minimum depth as the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Responding to their pleas at a dinner sponsored by the Council of Lake Erie Ports, Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich) said it is as essential to deepen the channels as to complete the seaway.

The 27-foot seaway depth now extends to about Toledo, Ohio. The channels connecting lakes Erie and Michigan and Michigan and Superior still require dredging to meet the minimum depth. Such work is now underway.

Attending the dinner were Congress members from Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and Michigan, along with representatives of Cleveland, Toledo, and Sandusky, Ohio; Erie, Pa.; Detroit; Buffalo, N. Y. and other Lake Erie ports.

John Ulinski, president of the council of Lake Erie Ports, and representing the city of Buffalo, said that activity at the port of Buffalo now has eight times the impact that it had before the seaway was opened.

William Rogers, representing the port of Cleveland, said federal aid to deepen the channels would not be a government subsidy.

"This will pay you back dollar for dollar," Rogers said.

Archie Jones of Toledo said the project would benefit not only the Great Lakes cities but the entire United States.

"They tell me that some congressmen have said that it would be impossible to get an authorization this year," said Jones. "I say that nothing is impossible when we Yankees set our minds to it."

CURTAIN ABOUT TO GO UP — The perennial farm drama goes on the boards again when Congress convenes in January for its second session. Making the situation particularly acute this time is the fact that the prices farmers are receiving are at their lowest in 19 years. Farm profits this year are running about 15 per cent below 1958, while surpluses keep piling up. The administration intends to present a five-point program (see sketches above). The program is not new, but the call is for more emphasis on certain parts of it. Chief aim is to revise the parity system — the formula is tied to 1910-1914 figures, which the administration calls unrealistic. Americans can expect a lively performance.

Ex-Miss America Striving to Stay In Spotlight

NEW YORK (AP) — What becomes of a tired, old Miss America after her year is up?

"This tired, old Miss America became Mary Ann Mobley again," said the strikingly pretty burnette with wry grin. She was hiking energetically through Central Park as she talked, neither tired nor old.

During 1959, Mary Ann traveled to places even presidential candidates skip. Thousands of flash bulbs gave their lives for her. She pinned blue ribbons on cows, pumpkins, Boy Scouts, babies and pretty girls. She smiled from dawn to dusk or dusk to dawn as need be.

"There wasn't much time to be just Mary Ann," said Mary Ann. "It was a wonderful year, and I loved being in the spotlight. But now I've got to prove I can stay in the spotlight as just me."

Most ex-Miss Americas don't. Many don't want to.

Staying in the spotlight demands every bit as much energy as Mary Ann's crowded schedule last year required. She studies acting under Lee Strasberg. She has regular singing lessons. She sees as many plays and musicals as she can.

Lately, Mary Ann has added a busy routine of rehearsals for a new hour-long television show that premieres tonight at 7:30 on CBS. It's called "Be Our Guest" and stars comedian George de Witt. Mary Ann has featured billing.

At 23, she is keenly aware of the point in life at which she now stands — an ambitious, intelligent beauty still not entirely sure of her independence.

House of Dior Hands Another Surprise to Fashion World

PARIS (AP)—The house of Dior handed another surprise to the fashion world today.

Dresses displayed at the spring and summer show erased bust, waist and hips. Knees were covered, but barely.

Said the duchess of Windsor of the latest creation by young Yves St. Laurent, Dior's heir: "Oh, I think it's wonderful!"

But after being shapeless all day Dior's women are supposed to get curvy, vampish bosoms, high, small waists and sometimes even hip curves for the evening.

Actually most of the formals are loose-lined, too.

Designer Saint-Laurent calls it all "the silhouette of tomorrow." But there are echoes of yesterday, particularly of the trapeze line on which the young dressmaker swung daringly high on his debut two years ago.

The sack, tent and chemise are all there with a difference.

Basically the silhouette flares out roundly from bust to short hemline.

Applause followed the models from early in the show, and grew in enthusiasm with the evening clothes.

There are short jackets, long jackets, and tunic jackets. Necklines are collarless and scooped out. Suit sleeves are loose three-quarter tubes, and most dresses are sleeveless. Gray and navy are the important daytime colors, with orange tones and turquoise.

Mannequins wore tall beehive hats or pudding basins. The costume jewelry was heaped on with a heavy hand. Jeweled medallions as big as saucers perched on the bosom, often paired with slave bracelets worn above the elbow on each arm.

Typical suits have a loose jacket loose skirt, and loose top. There are also suit dresses, with both dress and jacket unfitted. Tunic-length tops are tucked under in an unpressed hem, or gathered in harem style. Coats are cut in a big curve over the hips and dip in slightly at the hem. A few are sleeveless.

Match For the Red Stand-Patters

The recent resumption of negotiations between the United States and Russia on Soviet repayment of its lend-lease debt has been interpreted as the acid test of Nikita Khrushchev's sincerity in his peace talk.

Agreement to start talking about the debt again for eight years' standoff was the only concrete decision to come out of Mr. K's celebrated conversation with President Eisenhower at Camp David last fall.

Now, barely two weeks after the negotiations started, they appear to have bogged down. The reason is, not surprisingly, the impossibility of granting the Reds' most pressing desire.

RUSSIA WANTS to restore a measure of free trade with the United States, and that is what it hopes to get out of an agreement to settle the debt. But, in characteristic fashion, Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov has demanded that U.S. negotiator Charles E. Bohlen promise him most-favored-nation tariff treatment before he agrees to cough up any money.

This Mr. Bohlen is not in a position to do. Most-favored-nation status was withdrawn from Russia and her satellites during the Korean War by Congress, and only Congress can restore it.

Mr. Bohlen has pointed out to the Red envoy that if the Kremlin agrees to a reasonable debt payment, Congress of course will be in a frame of mind more conducive to easing trade restrictions.

Although diplomatic considerations never fall into black and white categories, Mr. Bohlen appears to have some important ones on his side. The United States long since has given up any idea of getting a sizable chunk of money for its lend-lease aid to Russia, so it is not in a bind as far as the 500 million dollars it might get is concerned.

But the Russians themselves have attested to the economic pains they are suffering as a result of our trade freeze. After most-favored-nation tariff status was withdrawn, customs duties on their manganese ore increased fourfold; on other ores, threefold; on timber, fourfold; on liquor, fourfold.

MR. MENSHIKOV is reported to be standing pat on his demand for prior promise. But Mr. Bohlen can be expected to stand pat, too.

In a television conversation with other world diplomats recently, he said patience is one of the two most important attributes of a successful diplomat. He added that this is especially true of the diplomat who must deal with the Russians, and he ought to know for he is the foremost American authority on relations with the Russians.

With his patience and his knowledge of the Red desire for renewed trade, Mr. Bohlen may prove to be a real match for the Russian stand-patters.

Rabbits In a Lettuce Patch

All the Federal Bureau of Investigation has turned up so far in the arrest of Vernon Spears, a naturopath "doctor," is a strong case of circumstantial evidence. But when was there ever a stronger one?

Spears was supposed to have been a passenger on a commercial airliner that fell into the Gulf of Mexico last Nov. 16. When he turns up alive and $100,000 worth of insurance is in process of collection, only one conclusion is possible.

The rabbits have discovered a new lettuce patch and may have devised a way to get through the fence. The lure of easy money has brought them into the open. Spears is a man with a record of many slick schemes that backfired. He has been arrested, often.

Conjecture runs easily to the possibility that an insured person could take advantage of an insurance vending machine to buy coverage on his life without being identified with the transaction. Thereafter, he could start the plot in motion by never boarding the plane.

Two Years Would Be Just Fine

A subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee has made a thunderous indictment of retired military officers who take jobs with suppliers of military hardware.

It lists 762 of these men who have gone to work for 100 of the largest suppliers, some of them at substantial salaries, all of them at salaries that are solid additions to their retirement pay. The inference to be drawn from the association is that the retirees had something of special value to offer their new employers.

The subcommittee recommends, therefore, that no retired officer should be permitted to sell anything to the Pentagon within two years, if he goes to work for a military hardware supplier. That would put a crimp in employment prospects.

Two thoughts about this proposed reform repress enthusiasm.

First is the thought that military officers are honorable men — as honorable as the members of Congress. They are entitled to the best disposition they can make of their talents after they retire. Early retirement and the prospect of private employment are two of the lures that attract military careerists.

The other thought is about kettles and pots. Senators and representatives never run out of insinuations when they talk about possible "conflicts of interest" on the part of civilians tapped for government service, or retired officers tapped for private employment. They insist that everybody should come to Washington naked and leave it the same way.

Yet, senators and representatives are indifferent to their own "conflicts of interest." They frequently come to Washington to grind a specific ax and, after grinding it tirelessly, take it with them in their luggage when they move their offices from federal property into a private office building down the street.

If all retiring congressmen waited two years before selling their services, the country would think that was about right. Otherwise, it's hard to see why only lieutenant generals and vice admirals should be required to take the economic veil.

A Deserved Honor

Congratulations are in order for Elizabeth Bennett, the 17-year-old Salem girl whose sewing skill and creativeness brought her the national title yesterday in the junior division of a contest sponsored by the country's wool growers.

National championships are hard to come by but the pretty high school junior sewed up the Ohio competition before advancing to the finals in San Antonio, Texas. Hers is a singular achievement since Liz did not develop an interest in sewing until last year.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"Good morning. I have a financial problem," we said to the modern bank president. "Let's not talk money," he replied. "Let's just talk friendship."

We said we had come in about a loan. "Have one of our Virginia hams, a souvenir watch, a box of cigars and a set of dishes for the wife," he smiled.

We told him we had just received these things from the vice president in charge of preliminary hospitality.

"No matter," said the bank president, "and I hope you met our veep who handles the distribution of hi-fi records, puppies, fishing tackle and neckties."

"What I need is a little money," we said. "Money?" he replied with a surprised look. "Yes. It is oblong in shape and green in color. Remember?" we said.

"Oh, that stuff! It reminds me of the swimming situation."

"Swimming situation?" we gasped.

"Yes, the bank's newly-opened pool, you know. Here's a season's ticket to it. We supply the towels."

"I came here to discuss my economic situation," we insisted.

"Certainly," said the banker, handing us a chance on a station wagon, a set of cuff links, a Schnauzer puppy and two etchings by Rembrandt.

"Have you met the bank's ski-jump equipment man? He will fit you out with whatever you need and can also see that you get six inches of snow, an increase of 5 per cent over last year's snow allowance."

"Look," we argued, "all I dropped in for was a little loan and I thought..."

"Let me live in a bank by the side of the road where depositors go by, and be not just a banker but a friendly sort of guy," he said, getting poetical.

"The point is I need about $1,000," we said.

"Shall we dance?" asked a charming blonde who came in at this point.

"This is our hostess in charge of small loans," the banker explained.

(P.S.: We got the loan, fast improvement in our footwork, and a season's pass to the best dance teacher in town.)

Simple, Isn't It?

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

I guess it's quite all right to steal a lead from those political writers, Gilbert and Sullivan. They're not covering this presidential campaign. If they were, they'd start this story, as it should be, with "a paradox, a paradox, a most ingenious paradox — 'because it's the story of the nation's most influential labor leaders trying to stop the Democratic party's most influential leader from getting the nomination.'"

Victor Riesel

Influential labor leaders trying to stop the Democratic party's most influential leader from getting the nomination.

But if this chap, Lyndon Johnson, should get the top of the ticket, the labor chiefs highest AFL-CIO councils will officially endorse him as they did Adlai Stevenson against Dwight Eisenhower.

THIS PREDICTION is based on a fairly inclusive poll of policy-making union officials—inclusive enough to be conclusive about one fact: There is no rift between labor and the Democratic National Committee.

There have been a score of discussions between the committee leadership and such labor men as George Harrison (Railway Clerks Brotherhood) and Jim Carey (International Union of Electrical Workers) as well as others who want to remain anonymous.

In these, Democrats such as Paul Butler have been assured that the national AFL-CIO will endorse their candidate.

Reason: Labor leaders are adamantly anti-Republican. Richard Nixon's steel strike saga won him no support in policy-making labor ranks. Fact is the unionists are so determined to fight him they will back any of the current Democratic hopefuls.

Failure to endorse a Democratic candidate officially would be interpreted as indirect support of the Republicans. The labor people will not permit this to happen.

Publicly, of course, the strategy is to say that they are neutral until there is a presidential nomination.

In private some have said to the Democrats that they would prefer the nomination of Sen. Jack Kennedy or Sen. Hubert Humphrey. They talk little of Stevenson. They say that they're not overly enthusiastic about Sen. Stuart Symington, despite Harry Truman's off-the-record talks.

WHAT DISTURBS THEM is to be put in a vise—where they'd have to take Johnson "in his present image." That means as part of the Southern bloc. That's why, for example, some of the labor men first refused to take their usual tickets from the Democrats for the Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet in Washington.

They sent word they wouldn't sit with the Southerners because of the passage of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act and because of the failure of Congress to push bills on civil rights and proposals to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour.

Then Paul Butler and his colleagues inside the party said, in effect, why punish the entire organization because of your opposition to the Southern bloc. Late last week the recalcitrant labor chiefs ordered their tickets.

There will be nine tables taken by unions ranging from the Auto Workers to the Mine Workers—including the United Steelworkers of America.

On the dais will be Jim Carey, Joe Bieme of the Communications Workers, Arthur Goldberg, John Owens of the Miners, Bill Doherty of the Letter Carriers and Victor Reuther sitting in for his brother Walter.

What the inner party group has been saying to the union chiefs is that they really have no problem. They say that the only chance for Lyndon Johnson to get the nomination is for him to deliver on the civil rights and the minimum wage demands of the liberal-labor coalition. That would change the "image."

THIS WOULD MEAN breaking with the Southern bloc—or at least swinging them into line. Johnson might do just that. In the past two weeks he has discussed minimum wage hikes with such labor people as Art Goldberg, the Clothing Workers' Jack Ptofsky, and the Hatters' Alex Rose.

Johnson has sat with a civil liberties group led by Walter Reuther. They did get some promise of action.

Furthermore, insiders report that Johnson and Hubert Humphrey's strategists are working together.

If the gentleman from Texas delivers to the labor men, it would make it easier. But delivery or not, they hope he doesn't get the nomination. For whoever gets it, they'll have to take. They are eager to move the Republicans out of the White House.

Bull Market At End?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market has been turning a deaf ear of late to good business news. And as usual, when the price averages stumble, Wall Street is wondering out loud if the bull market is finally at or near its end. And if so, what was it that did the bull in?

The talk was rife after stock prices had hit their peak last Aug. 3 and then taken a long slide. But a year-end rally brought them back, and all seemed well again.

Then much of the zip went out of the market.

The Dow Jones industrial average started January at a record high of 688. After 15 trading days this month it closed Friday at 646, down 40 points in the three weeks.

The Associated Press price index of 60 stocks fell in 10 of the 15 trading days. A modest rally at the end of last week gave courage to the optimists who think the fall is leveling off, or may even be reversing itself. But the drop in the index for the month was eight points.

The news has been mostly good: corporate earnings up and 1960 profit prospects even better, dividend payments increasing, industrial production rising retail trade on the upswing.

Why, then, have investors been keeping their money in the bank, or taking it out of the market by selling their stocks?

Some caution that both the rise and the fall of the market in recent months has been largely selective—individual companies or industries getting the trader's attention rather than the stock list as a whole.

But others point out some specific factors that might be affecting investors' judgments.

Bond yields have risen so high they are more attractive as income than stock dividends. This particularly appeals to the big investors, like the pension funds, or educational and financial institutions. It also appeals to those who live on fixed incomes.

President Eisenhower's plans for a balanced budget and his stressing of the need to stave off further inflation may have led some investors to lose interest in stocks as a hedge against a further inflation that may never come.

Defense Endangered

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Information Leaks Aiding Soviets

What is back of all the fuss and controversy about America's defense program and what of the outcry that "the Soviets are ahead of us?"

Hints have been coming out lately that not all the pressure for more spending on defense is coming from objective sources but from some with a definite mercenary interest in contracts or from members of the armed forces who naturally want to see more money spent on their own services. Who feeds out or leaks to the press technical information and appraisals to give the impression that America is falling down on the defense job?

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, made a significant observation the other day while testifying before the House subcommittee on defense appropriations. He said:

"The only way we can deal with this fellow (the Soviet) is not to tell him how deficient we are to; say, we are prone to do this at times, because it gets us more money, because it gets us more money. It is the democratic system and I am not bucking it but I think it is very dangerous."

IN THE SAME HEARINGS, Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, addressing Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, said:

"So many vested interests get involved in this situation that it is mighty hard to make military decisions completely objectively. I am sure I do not as a member of this committee get one one-hundredth or one one-thousandth of the pressure you do but with military spending in every state and in nearly every district, with the immediate economy of that area wrapped around it, a great problem is presented."

"I do not have any military installations in my district, so I do not have the problem but if I did have and if you set out to close such an establishment, I am sure I, too, would have many of the people there wanting to continue it."

"Since over half the national budget is involved and since the Defense Department makes a determination as to what facilities are going to be closed and which major companies are going to get contracts, it becomes highly imperative, if I am right about the inflationary results of defense spending — and particularly that expenditure for which we get no real defense — that these things be looked at completely objectively."

Mr. Whitten then referred to the investigation last year, conducted by a House committee under the leadership of Rep. F. Edward Herbert, Democrat of Louisiana, which called on the Defense Department to furnish a list of retired officers of high rank who were working for military contractors. Mr. Whitten asked that the list be printed in the record together with this report, which said in part:

"The committee is seriously concerned over problems which arise as a result of the acceptance by retired senior officers of employment in responsible executive positions with defense contractors."

Now, it is natural for companies engaged in defense work to seek the knowledge and experience in technical matters possessed by retired military men. But do these men confine themselves always to such duties or do they furnish the press information designed to help their companies get more contracts? These are questions related to the whole problem studied by the investigating committee.

IT IS CURIOUS but the statements made by our highest military officers are constantly sniped at in the press and by the politicians and the impression is given that these same officials would weaken America's defenses. Statements, moreover, by our authorized spokesmen do not get the prominence they deserve. Secretary of Defense Gates, for instance, made this statement a few days ago before the House subcommittee:

"There is no question that the Soviet Union is a formidable power. It has made tremendous progress since the end of World War II in developing not only its military but also its economic strength and will make continued progress in the future. But the impression in some quarters that the Soviet Union has overtaken or even outdistanced the United States in military power is simply not supported by the facts..."

"We must be ever cautious not to underestimate the military strength of possible opponents but it does not contribute to our national security to overestimate their military strength. It can be dangerous to our national security and our position in the world to allow a false impression to gain ground that the United States is second to the Soviet Union."

"The same holds true with respect to our relative economic strengths. While the Soviet Union since the end of World War II has made great progress in developing its economy, the United States is still far ahead by virtually any measure of economic strength."

HOW MANY CITIZENS read the text of that statement by the secretary of defense, released last week?

How many persons, on the other hand, read the sniping remarks of the politicians who are quibbling about appraisals based on Soviet "intentions" as contrasted with "capabilities"?

The United States has the power to deter an enemy. Its own retaliatory power extends to bases overseas as well as to missile-carrying aircraft carriers and submarines that rove the seas.

Maybe the Soviets are ahead in certain categories of weapons but it is over-all power that counts.

Russia would be destroyed if it attacked the United States because it cannot at any time possibly have enough missiles to destroy at the same time all bases in this country, all Allied bases overseas and all the mobile bases of our Navy.

Fear of retaliation that can be massively destructive is what deters an enemy.

The United States is interested in the sum total of deterrent power and today has adequate strength to do the job. This assertion is based on the statements of the President of the United States, who is himself a military man and of the secretary of defense and of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Boom In Rare Book Market

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Would you like to search for buried treasure?

Well, don't overlook your own attic, basement, or barn loft. There may be a small fortune hidden there in the form of old books bought long ago by your great-grandfather.

The hunting is likely to be particularly good if you are the member of a pack-rat family that sentimentally clings to its possessions for several generations.

"There is a real boom in the rare book market today, particularly in Americana," said Van Allan Bradley, 46, literary editor of the Chicago Daily News.

In a volume of his own titled "Gold in Your Attic," Bradley lists some 2,000 scarce books worth $25 to $25,000.

The $25,000 item is for a paperback first edition of Edgar Allan Poe's "The Murders in the Rue Morgue," which sold for only a few cents when it was originally published in 1845.

"The chance of your finding such a book in your attic is extremely remote," Bradley said, "but now and then it does happen."

None of his readers has stumbled upon a $20,000 book, but a number have found books worth $1,000 or more, and many have turned up books worth hundreds of dollars.

Examples of valuable finds by his own readers range from a copy of the first Chicago City Directory of 1844 that brought $250 to an 1845 edition of Lansford Hastings' "The Emigrants' Guide to Oregon and California," which fetched its discoverer the tidy sum of $3,000.

Bradley estimates there are perhaps 6,000 serious private book collectors in the United States—not counting museums, libraries and foundations — plus 100,000 more "who collect in a mild way." "You can't tell the value of a book by its title," he said, pointing out that a 50-cent 1859 copy of a booklet called "Guide to the New Gold Regions of Western Kansas and Nebraska" and recently sold for $1,800.

Books don't even have to be very old to be valuable. Copies of the first edition of L. Frank Baum's "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," published in 1900, sell for $175 to $600.

Would it pay a man now to stow some of today's modern books away in the attic for the benefit of his great-grandchildren?

"Certainly," said Bradley, "if he were wise enough to pick important limited first editions by important authors. Books can be a good long-range investment."

Happy hunting! But if you find an old book you think is rare, don't write me about it. I collect old cigar bands myself.

Burglary, Theft Probed by Deputies

LISBON — Sheriff's deputies are investigating a breaking and entering and a theft, Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan reports.

John Foreman of 218 High St., Leontonia, reported some power tools and the contents of his tool box were taken Monday or Tuesday morning at a new home he is building in Windy Hill Estates, one mile south of Fairfield-Waterford High School. He estimated the total value of tools at over $500.

A theft of a new spare tire, tube and rim was reported Tuesday afternoon by truck driver Alf Wicklem, Cross Creek, Pa. MACDONALD HAS NO FARM — For the past 19 years the value of farm land has been rising (newschart, left). As 1959 closed, however, demand for farms began slackening, numerous lending agencies report. Reason for this is not clear and a definite new trend in farm land prices is not yet established. Some observers say the continuing drop in farm income is discouraging potential farmers. Easing of pressure for more land by expanding cities may be another cause. Chart, right, shows another part of the farm picture—the striking rise in yields per acre of most crops. More food is being produced on less land, while farmers' incomes go down and expenses rise.

Conviction Grows Algerian Uprising Will Be Successful

ALGIERS (Passed by censor)—(AP)—The conviction grew in this embattled city today that Sunday's bloody uprising is not doomed to failure.

As gray dawn broke over Algiers, insurgents demanding proclamation of Algeria as part of France forever, still manned barricades in the heart of the city.

At this stage it was obvious that it was not a rising of a handful of right-wing desperadoes, but a popular insurrection backed by most of Algeria's settlers, a number of army officers and some pro-French Moslems.

Thousands of men and women—including several hundred Moslems—gathered Tuesday outside the barricades of the university stronghold and listened to their appeals.

Reports from the insurgent camp said they had enough food and supplies to hold out for weeks, and were certain of continuing demonstrations of sympathy from the European population of Algiers and other cities.

The whole city seemed convinced that the uprising has become a political problem and a challenge to the French government's Algerian policy.

French censors have authorized dispatches saying that the insurgents have won the first round.

Although censorship relaxed somewhat, the Algiers daily, Echo d'Alger, came out with blank spaces where its front-page editorial, several headlines and an appeal of insurgent leader Joseph Ortiz would have appeared.

All newspapers, as well as the official French radio network, referred to the rising as part of the fight to keep Algeria French.

Paul Delouvrier, delegate general, continued meeting officials and representatives of civic groups.

Demonstrations and strikes of sympathy with the insurgents were reported from Oran, Mostaganem in western Algeria, and Constantine and Bone.

OH, MY ACHING BACK

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain — you want relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling. Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. New, large size saves money. Get Doan's Pills today!

THE HOLIDAY SEASON IS THE PARTY SEASON. A winter party can mean anything from a small gathering of close friends to a large and dressy affair. It can be an eggnog party, a dinner party or a ball. We show here clothes intended for the less formal evenings but nonetheless festive. Bright red chiffon lights up the evening (left) in a dress with modified Grecian lines and crystal-pleated top. It has its own red taffeta lining. A pale beige dress (center) in wool flannel has sheath lines, easy top and dolman-cut sleeves. Deep V neck and midriff are bound in matching satin. Silk organza in a misty, moss green (right) is used for this classic shirtwaist dress with tucked bodice. Tucking is outlined with bugle bead trim. Dress has very deep hem and its own underlining of matching taffeta.

Flaring Tempers Mark Game As Salem Beats Rayen 78-44

5 Quakers Score In Double Figures

By DICK BRAUTIGAM In a contest marred by flying elbows and flaring tempers, the Salem Quakers trampled a weak Youngstown Rayen quintet 78-44 on Tuesday night in the Salem High gym.

starters had left the game. Both teams were guilty of more than the usual amount of pushing under the boards.

Rayen's ace, George Donlow, was charged with a technical foul during one brawl after he raced onto the floor from the bench to get at a Salem player. Donlow, who seconds earlier had fouled out of the game with only two points to his credit, was restrained by Rayen players and their coach, Ted Theodosoff.

DAVIDSON was deadly with his patented hook shot. The 6-4 1/2 junior caged eight of 13 shots and most of them were out from under the hoop.

High point man for Rayen was 5-10 guard Tom Harris with 13. The defeat for the Tigers was their seventh. They have won six.

Leetonia Nips Lisbon 68-66 In Overtime

Tip-In by Scullion Gives Contest To Bears

Leetonia's Bears fought from behind to tie the score in the final minutes of the fourth quarter then won out 68-66 in a thrilling overtime period over the Lisbon Blue Devils Tuesday night at Leetonia.

Junior Bob Scullion tipped in a rebound shot with 25 seconds remaining in the overtime period to win the game. These were the only points Scullion registered in the contest.

The game was tied at 62-all after regulation time. Lisbon had led throughout most of the game. They held quarter leads of 14-8, 26-23, and 40-36.

Lee Radler, the county's leading scorer, and Bob Gullet each contributed 19 points for Leetonia. Lisbon's Bob Simpson hooped 24 points to lead all scorers.

Ten of Simpson's points were tallied from the foul line. Simpson, a 6-0 senior transfer from Canton Lehman, turned in his best performance of the year for the Blue Devils. His 24 points marked the first time he has hit in double figures since the season opener against Wellsburg when he hooped 17.

Gullet's 19 points was also a season high for the little junior guard. Leetonia's victory left Lisbon in sole possession of last place in the Tri-County League. Both teams had dropped six straight league games into last night's battle.

Coach Len Batcha's Bears have an overall record now of 4-7. Lisbon has won only one of 10 games.

Salem's 7th, 8th Graders Win Games

Salem's 7th and 8th grade all-star basketball teams trampled their counterparts from Beaver Local in games played Tuesday in the Salem Junior High gym.

The Salem 8th grade dumped the Beavers 42-27 as the Quakers hit on a red hot 52 per cent of their shots from the field. The Beaver 7th grade squad suffered a 39-13 setback.

Bink Washington led the Quaker 8th graders with 16 points. H. Smith collected nine to pace Beaver Local. Dick Wilt of Salem was top scorer in the 7th grade game. He had seven points.

Both Salem teams improved their season records to four wins and two losses.

Poland Evens Score With Freshmen Team

Salem's freshman hoopsters went down to their third defeat of the season at Poland Tuesday when the Bulldogs yearlings defeated the Quakers 40-34.

The Bulldogs gained revenge for a 29-28 loss to Salem earlier in the season.

Fred Schramm led the Salem scorers with nine points. Stezbach carried the Poland attack. He racked up 20 points on eight goals and four fouls.

The Poland freshman star was held to four points the first time the teams met.

The Bulldogs connected on 47 per cent of their shots from the field. Salem caged 12 of 39 attempts for a 33 per cent average. The Quakers experienced considerable trouble in trying to control the backboards. Nate Cope led Salem in rebounds with eight.

Salem has eight wins to go with its three defeats. They play at home Thursday against Beaver Local.

Player Scores 135 Points In Cage Game

BURNSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — Danny Heater played his first full basketball game of the season Tuesday night, and he'll probably never forget it.

The 6-foot senior scored 135 points as Burnsville whipped Widen 173-43 in a high school basketball game. Burnsville Coach Jack Stalnaker admitted it was planned that way.

Poland Jolts Louisville 47-36

Bulldogs Rally After Weak First Half

Poland is in a three-way tie for second place in Tri-County League standings as a result of its 47-36 victory over Louisville Tuesday night on the winners' floor.

Sebring and East Palestine share the runner-up spot with Poland. Each has a 5-2 record in loop competition.

It looked for a time as though Louisville was going to knock the Bulldogs out of contention last night. The Leopards tallied 12 points in the first period while holding Poland to a mere four.

The Bulldogs revived somewhat in the next frame to narrow Louisville's lead to 21-17.

Poland spurred in the third stanza to hold a 29-27 margin entering the final stanza.

Rick Hunneke paced the Bulldogs with 15 points. Three other players tallied for Poland, all in the double figures: Bill Zimmer and Bill Heath, 11 apiece, and John Talbot, 10.

Darryl Sommers led Louisville's scoring with 11. Terry Buckler followed with eight.

Poland has won nine games this season while losing two. Louisville has a 4-7 record over the year.

Louisville's next contest will be Friday at Leetonia. Poland will be host to the league-leading Minerva Lions the same night.

The Louisville Reserves won the preliminary contest 51-40.

Weeb Ewbank, Staff Still Hard at Work

BALTIMORE (AP) — Where would you expect to find a professional football coach a month after his team won its second straight world championship?

Relaxing a bit?

Not Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts, twice champions of the National Football League.

"We've been working here at my house from about 9 in the morning until 4:30 in the afternoon," he says.

"Right now we're studying the films of all our games, grading our personnel, going over our plays and trying to come up with ideas that might make us a better football team."

"We also classify all our plays. When we're through we know just how many times we ran a certain play, how much yardage it gained for us, and what broke down when the opposition stopped it. These things are noted for correction in summer practice."

"Another thing we're doing now is making our plans for covering the spring practice of the colleges."

Ewbank and his staff usually don't take time off to go out to lunch. They just munch on sandwiches while the films roll.

Greenford Cagers Beat Jackson-Milton

Greenford's Junior High cage squad captured a 31-23 verdict from invading Jackson-Milton on Tuesday.

Phil Johnson and Tim Davis paced the winners with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Long collected seven points for the losing Jackson-Milton Junior High squad.

Both teams have 2-5 records this season.

Greenford Junior High—31

McDonald Bests Springfield

Blue Devils Behind Most of Contest

McDonald, behind during the first three quarters of the game, spurred in the third and last frames to edge Springfield Local 53-50 in a cage contest played in the winners' gym Tuesday night.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 13-6, and Springfield padded its margin to 32-21 by the intermission. The Blue Devils flexed their muscles in the third stanza to narrow the gap to 40-37.

Frank Terlecki paced the winners with 14.

Wally Heck and Roger Myers were high for the losers with 14 apiece.

McDonald's season record is now 6-8, and the Blue Devils have a 2-3 standing in Inter-County league play.

The Tigers have won four contests while dropping seven. They have a 3-3 league standing.

Springfield's next game will be Friday at Greenford. McDonald will travel to Lordstown the same night.

The Springfield Reserves won the preliminary contest last night 41-23.

Springfield—30
Myers 5-4-14; Randall 3-1-7; Heck 6-2-14; Cline 3-1-7; Ohlin 2-2-6; Rauch 1-0-2.

Post Office, Eljer Win In Volleyball

First round champion Post Office stayed in contention for the second half title in the Adult Volleyball League Tuesday night by taking three straight games from Eljer Shipping.

Eljer Enamel took two out of three contests from a slipping Electric Furnace squad in other action at the Memorial Building last night.

The Post Office remained in third place behind Sekely's and Kiwanis by smashing Eljer Shipping three times by scores of 15-3. The Mailmen have won seven games and lost two. Shipping is one up and eight down.

West Virginia To Face Pitt

VPI Seeks 13th Victory at Dayton

By The Associated Press
West Virginia resumes its bid for the top national ranking after an 11-day layoff while its Southern Conference neighbor, Virginia Tech, continues its push for just plain recognition in college basketball features tonight.

West Virginia, fourth-ranked nationally but with the best overall record of all major teams at 15-1 plays at Pitt in its first game since it blasted Villanova from the unbeaten ranks on Jan. 16. Virginia Tech — quietly building up to West Virginia's class in the Southern Conference — seeks its ninth straight victory and its 13th in 15 games in a road toughie at Dayton.

Both West Virginia, riding a 56-game winning streak within the Southern Conference, and VPI have 6-0 conference records this year but don't meet during the regular season.

Meantime, West Virginia continues its challenge to Cincinnati, Bradley and California — the three once-beaten clubs ahead of it in the Associated Press national poll, and VPI keeps moving from stop to stop on the road on an admitted campaign to make a national name for itself. The Gobblers are 17th in this week's AP poll.

Of Tech's 24 games this season, 18 are on the road. So far, they've played at home only twice and after tough Dayton (13-3) tonight, they move on Thursday to Toledo, ranked 13th nationally after building an 11-2 record that includes a victory over Dayton.

Kentucky, just about knocked out of the Southwestern Conference race it usually dominates, plays Georgia at Columbus, Ga., eighth-ranked Villanova (12-1) is at Army, and Loyola of Los Angeles against seventh-ranked Utah (14-2) in other major games tonight.

Alabama (3-11) snapped an 11-game losing streak, beating touring Oklahoma City 54-52 on Larry Pennington's basket with five seconds left in one of the few major games on Tuesday night's schedule. It was the third straight road loss for Oklahoma City, which plays at Miami (Fla.) before returning home.

Golf 'Means of Expression' to Winsome Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Old Man Par may be an ogre to most golfers, but not to Mickey Wright, the winsome Women's National Open champion.

"Golf, to me, is a means of expression," the willowy, 24-year-old miss from San Diego, Calif., said today.

"I'm not particularly interested in money or the fame that comes with championships — although these things help—but I get my thrill from swinging a club and making a beautiful golf shot."

"The applause of the gallery or a compliment from one of my friends feeds my ego and makes me come back for more."

Miss Wright won the Women's Open the last two years and many observers think she may some day erase the golf records of the fabulous Babe Dickrikson Zaharias.

Mickey studied psychology in college and aimed at the medical profession, but gave it all up to hit the tournament circuit.

"Sorry? Not in the least," the 5-9, 140-pounder said. "I'd do it all over again. Some like the glamour attached to the tour—the travelling and the partying. Others like the money and fame. Me? I like it the way Liberace likes his piano."

Ernie Banks of the Cubs, Don Loak of the Pirates and Vada Pinson of the Redlegs appeared in all their teams' games last season.

Clippers Pose No Trouble for Lions

Columbiana Bows To Minerva 71-48

The Minerva Lions won their 21st straight Tri-County League game Tuesday night when they defeated the Columbiana Clippers 71-48 on the winners' court.

The league-leading Lions had no trouble last night. They forged to a 17-9 lead at the end of the first period and held a 31-23 bulge at the half.

The score was 47-35 in favor of Minerva at the conclusion of the third stanza.

Sparkling for the Lions were Walt Loudon and Chuck Wilson, with 14 and 12, respectively.

Coach Rich Berryman's Clippers were led by Gary Perkins and Don Culp who tallied 12 apiece.

Minerva was able to make good on half its shots from the field; Columbiana canned 39 per cent of its attempts.

Minerva is now 10-1 for the season and 7-0 in loop competition. Columbiana has won four out of 11 games this year and is 2-5 in league play.

In the preliminary encounter last night the Clipper JVs defeated the Lion cubs 53-41.

Minerva's next game will be Friday at Poland, the same night that Columbiana will journey to East Palestine.

Columbiana—48
Perkins 4-4-12; Murphy 1-0-2; Logan 2-4-8; Harrold 3-2-8; Douglas 1-0-2; Culp 6-0-12; Fritch 2-0-4.

Named After Bitter Wrangle

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Pete Rozelle, 33-year-old general manager of the Los Angeles Rams is the sixth commissioner of the National Football League.

Rozelle's selection as a compromise candidate to succeed the late Bert Bell came unexpectedly Tuesday night and cleared the decks for debate today on league expansion.

The youthful native of South Gate, Calif., was elected to the $50,000-a-year job by club owners who had fought bitterly for seven days through 23 ballots.

Rozelle, announcing he would keep league headquarters in Philadelphia and eventually move to New York City, was given a three-year contract. He said he planned to keep the league staff intact, including Austin H. Gunsel, acting commissioner since Bell's death Oct. 11.

Minutes after Rozelle's election, the owners re-elected Gunsel league treasurer, giving him a $5,000-a-year salary boost to a reported $15,000 and a $10,000 bonus for his work as acting commissioner.

Rozelle's first problem as commissioner concerned the important issue of expansion which will be taken up today.

"Expansion is a must for the National Football League," said the new commissioner.

However, the 6-foot 1½-inch former Compton (Calif.) Junior College basketball player did not say when the league should expand. He said that would have to be determined by the league owners.

Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas have been promised franchises this year. Miami, Fla. and St. Louis are possibilities in 1961. Representatives of all four are here awaiting the decision. It will take 10 of the 12 votes to push through an amendment necessary to approve any expansion.

The new commissioner's election was far from unanimous. Actually only nine votes were cast on the deciding ballot. Under the league constitution at least three-fourths of the total votes cast were necessary for election. Rozelle received eight. San Francisco voted for Leahy and Detroit, Los Angeles and the Chicago Bears passed.

The break in the stalemate over election of a commissioner came after the afternoon session Tuesday. The seven backers of Leahy finally realized they could not put over the West Coast barrister in face of determined opposition from the minority four.

Wellington Mara of the New York Giants and Paul Brown of Cleveland suggested Rozelle as a compromise candidate.

Humphrey, DiSalle Discuss Senator's Ohio Primary Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) met Gov. Michael V. DiSalle at a breakfast session today to discuss the senator's plans on his possible entry into Ohio's presidential primary.

The obvious move for Humphrey seemed to be to ask DiSalle for a second choice spot in Ohio under Sen. John F. Kennedy to whom the governor is already publicly pledged. As second man Humphrey would get Ohio support at the Democratic national convention in July if Kennedy should fall out of the running for the presidential nomination.

However, DiSalle said Tuesday that he cannot promise Humphrey such a position. Should Kennedy be eliminated the Ohio delegation would caucus and decide on a future course, he said.

At a press conference here Tuesday the Minnesota candidate indicated reluctance to enter Ohio's May primary.

"There are financial and time limitations and I have a reluctance to interfere with the progressive, forward movement of the state administration in Ohio," Humphrey said.

"But," he countered himself, "there also is the matter of free choice of choice for Ohio Democrats."

Humphrey probably will leave Columbus without indicating whether he will enter the Ohio race for convention delegates. He said, however, that "primaries are not going to settle this nomination issue. So far as determining nominees, primaries are a myth."

Humphrey said the Democrats have plenty of campaign issues. He said the present Republican administration "has been inclined to sweep everything under the rug until the rug is as filthy and bumpy as the hills of West Virginia."

Leetonia Circle to Convene

LEETONIA — The Silver Circle of the Presbyterian Church will meet at the home of Miss Mildred Herr on Chestnut St. on Thursday evening at 8.

Rebekah Lodge will sponsor a card party Thursday evening in the lodge hall. Prizes will be awarded and lunch will be served by the committee.

Youth Choir of the Methodist Church will practice Thursday evening at 7. The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet in the youth room at 8 and the official board of the church will meet in the social room at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robson and daughters of East Palestine were Sunday dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gotthardt Sr.

30 Exhibits Planned For Forestry Show

LISBON — Thirty different exhibits on woodland management, insect and disease control, chain saws, tree planters, timber products, forest tree nursery and Christmas tree management will be displayed at the Columbiana County Forestry Exposition to be held Saturday at United Local School, Don Myers, county farm agent, reports.

The exhibits may be viewed from 1 to 4 p.m. A number of demonstrations will be presented at 2 p.m.

All persons interested in woodland management and timber products are urged to attend the exhibit which was planned by the Columbiana County Forestry Committee, Myers said.

Columbiana-Mahoning Beef Institute Set

Robert Haigler of Bloomingburg, past president of the Ohio Cattle Feeders Assn., will be the guest speaker at the Columbiana-Mahoning Beef Institute which will be held Thursday, Feb. 4, at 7 p.m. at Heck's Restaurant, Columbiana, Don Myers, county farm agent, reports.

All area beef producers are invited to attend.

The following is the complete program:

7 p.m., dinner; 8 p.m., business session; 8:20 p.m., speaker and 9 p.m., film, "Cash in on Grass."

NEW HOSPITAL TO OPEN

CINCINNATI (AP)—A new 46-bed osteopathic hospital is slated to open Feb. 14 in Kenwood, a northeast Cincinnati suburb. Dr. S. J. Thiel, chairman of the hospital's trustees, said the $700,000 hospital has no obstetric section yet, but aims to add a delivery room, nurseries and other facilities in about two years.

DIES IN CAR CRASH

CINCINNATI (AP)—A two-car collision in nearby Madeira caused the death Tuesday of the driver of one car, Philip Russell Miller, 22, of Midland.

4-H Club News

Busy Bees and Beavers

The Rogers Busy Bees and Beavers 4-H Club met Saturday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, adviser.

Projects were chosen. Lunch was served by Janet Jenkins.

The next meeting will be Feb. 4 at Mrs. Jenkins home.

Willing 4-H'ers

The Willing 4-H'ers met Monday at the home of the adviser, William Werner of Newgarden Road. There were 11 members present. New officers took charge.

The new officers are: President, Norman Whinnery; vice president, Jim Drotleff; secretary, Tom Sanor; treasurer, Billy Sherwood; news reporter, Ronald Sanor.

Members voted to pay five cents dues each meeting.

The Feb. 8 meeting will be held in the home of William Sherwood of Georgetown Road.

Basketball was enjoyed during the recreation period. Refreshments were served by the adviser.

BOUND TO GRAND JURY

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Milo M. Davis Jr., 63, of Cleveland, and James W. Handa, 36, of Garfield Heights, were bound to the grand jury Tuesday on forgery charges. Police said they were involved in passing about $7,000 in bad checks in three states.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a career woman (unmarried) and my brother is a bachelor in his late 30s. I've been living alone and hating it. He has been doing the same recently the two of us decided we could cut expenses drastically and enjoy the pleasure of each other's company if we took a large apartment together. We've always gotten on well and agreed on most things.

When I mentioned the possibility to some of my friends they were horrified. The more conservative acquaintances said it wouldn't look respectable and that we'd be talked about by everyone in town. We've read your common-sense answers to other thorny problems and would appreciate your opinion. —PERPLEXED.

Dear Perplexed: There's nothing wrong with a brother and sister making a home together. Small minds and big mouths never will cease their evil work. No one has yet devised a method of controlling gossip—but you can ignore it.

Withered Romances
Dear Ann: When I married Thomas I was sure it was the real thing. Now I realize it was a mistake and I was too young. I work in an office and am friendly with a co-worker who is my age. She's unhappy in her marriage, too. In short, we both want out but we have no legal grounds. Our husbands are nice guys with no bad habits. The worst that can be said about them is that they are dull.

My girl friend shares her home with her husband's brother and his wife. I can see why she might complain but I have no such problems. We need some advice.—TOO YOUNG.

Dear Too Young: Sorry the story books lied, kids, and the fairy princes turned out to be humans with faults like everyone else.

You two are beautiful examples of the boredom that sets in when the romantic dreams fade. And this is why I pleaded with young people to keep the brakes on. I beg them not to hop from their graduation gowns into bridal veils merely because there's nothing else exciting to do.

Now you must pull up your socks and make your marriage work.

Three Of A Kind
Dear Ann: I'm 17 and was married on my 16th birthday. I'm expecting a baby any minute and need some advice badly. My husband says he's not happy with me and wants to separate. He wants me to move into my mother's apartment so he can have his place. When I ask him what is wrong with our marriage he says it's not just one thing but lots of small things.

I don't want to separate, especially since a baby is on the way. He's 27 years old and was married once before. If he moves over to my mother's is he responsible for the doctor bills? Please help me.—HEARTBROKEN 17.

Dear Heartbroken 17: You and girls in the above letter make a nice set of triples. You all married too young.

You do not have to move to your mother's. If your husband leaves or stays he is legally obligated to pay the bills and support you and the baby. Contact Legal Aid and learn what your rights are under the law.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CAR-TRUCK CRASH FATAL
MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — Dale W. Gruber, 25, of Rt. 3, Mount Gilead, was killed Tuesday in a car-truck crash on a county road two miles east of here. Sheriff's deputies said Gruber was driving the car.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M. D.

Mothers Have Good Reason to Be Tired

So many housewives write in to say that they're fatigued, worn-out, done-in and the like. Most of these letters end with a request for the name of some vitamin pills, pep-up medicines, iron tonic or gland shots they can take to make them "feel younger again."

Dr. H. T. Hyman

Dear ladies, I wish there were a magic formula I could send you or your doctor. Unfortunately there isn't.

And if there were, I'm not sure you would profit, more than temporarily, by taking the magical medicine. In point of fact, I'm quite sure you'd be worse off in the long run.

I REGARD fatigue as a warning signal rather than a complaint. To me it means that the complaint is approaching or has reached of their fatigue with medication of any kind makes no more sense than beating a tired horse to drain the last bit of energy he possesses.

INSTEAD OF chasing the proverbial pot of gold that lies at the foot of the rainbow, the tired housewife would profit most by getting first a bill of health from her doctor and second by organizing her housework somewhat in accordance with the human rights labor demands and gets in factories.

I am completely aware of the differences that exist between shop work and housework.

I know, too, that her day is not over until the evening meal has been served, pots and dishes washed and put away and the children tucked in bed.

None of this will prevent an intelligent woman from organizing her work so that she is able to break her day in half by taking a two-hour break for a nap or a reading session.

AND, IF SHE can rid herself of the idea that no one in the house can perform her duties as expertly as she can, she ought to be able to delegate foolproof chores to the awkward squad that lives under her roof.

Even the clumsiest husband can be made into a short-order cook. The junior scout who's learned to draw a six-shooter is a possibility as a dishwasher.

And the young lady of the house who's able to put up her hair should be able to make a bed and manage a broom or a vacuum cleaner.

It's worth a try, mother.

East Palestine Woman Files Suit for $138,000

LISBON — A suit for $138,000 for personal injuries received in an auto accident was filed in Common Pleas Court Tuesday by Sarah Dishong of 236 E. Martin St., East Palestine.

Merle Kountz of Campbell was named defendant.

Mrs. Dishong claims she was seriously injured in a collision Jan. 27, 1958 on Rt. 14, west of the junction of Rts. 7 and 14, between cars driven by Marjorie E. Byers of East Palestine, in which she was a passenger and the defendant. She claims he was driving left of center.
